Men Are Still from Mars, Women Are Still from Venus Ask Mars Venus Coaches Offer Immediate Answers and Solutions

While the rules of relationships and dating may have changed, two fundamental facts remain the same: men are still from Mars, and women are still from Venus. The planets continue to collide when there is miscommunication between the sexes. The Ask Mars Venus Coaching program was created in order to break this pattern and to shed new light on the fundamental importance of honest, open communication in relationships. With the help of Ask Mars Venus Coaches, and their expert grasp of the Mars Venus principles and relationship advice of Dr. John Gray, it's possible for anyone to create a love life they can, well... love.

Ask Mars Venus Coaching is an investment. So often, people say they're willing to do "anything" to help their relationship. But impatience and desperation for change can lead many individuals and couples to make the wrong decisions. Before people get impulsive, they should know that answers can be found quickly with the aid of an Ask Mars Venus Coach. Coaches provide that luxury—one phone call, one conversation, and a client can be well on their way to the land of comfort, understanding, and relief.

Many people have a resistance to change, but Ask Mars Venus works to break through these walls by offering coaching in two convenient ways—via phone and email. Whether people are more comfortable speaking or typing, they can find support for their concerns.

There are other paths of resistance that must be crossed as well—people don't reach out for help because they think their issue isn't big enough or important enough; they worry about cost; they think advice from friends and family is good enough; or they're just plain embarrassed to admit that they need a helping hand. These are all legitimate reasons to not call a coach—but they're the kind of excuses that keep people stuck in their own misery.

What is an Ask Mars Venus Coach?

You will find that no two Ask Mars Venus relationship coaches are alike. While they all spread the same tried-and-true principles of Mars Venus, every coach is unique in their own right, helping clients find their way in relationships through specially crafted, solution-oriented techniques.

- Every Ask Mars Venus Coach is highly skilled and extensively trained in the expert relationship advice of John Gray.
- Coaches participate in advanced training sessions weekly where they examine specific dating and relationship subjects in-depth in order to maintain the highest level of knowledge to properly support to each of their clients.
- Each coach is evaluated carefully and regularly to ensure adherence to the Mars Venus message and to maintain an impeccable level of knowledge and service.
- Ask Mars Venus coaches excel in subject matter expertise and exhibit a relatable, non-judgmental, and empathetic personality.
- Speaking with a coach heightens and simplifies the Mars Venus principles so that everyone can find satisfaction in love and life, create strong and successful long-term connections, recognize different expressions of love, and truly get what they want out of their relationship.
- Most importantly, coaches work to arm each of their clients with the techniques to help them navigate through the biggest relationship obstacle: accepting the fact that there are fundamental differences between men and women.

Customer Feedback

"Susan B. was terrific and helped me see where my past experience might be making me more upset than I need to be. Grateful for the coping strategies she offered. Also, very helpful to get clarification on what is really going on."

~ ~ ~

"Christine is fantastic to talk to. She has helped me in a short amount of time like none of my other friends have been able to do. She has been helping me get a new way of looking at dating."

~ ~ ~

"I found it really easy to speak to Lauren. She was able to give me honest feedback and something to do while I wait for my partner's response. She was very validating and comforting as I was very upset. I will be calling back to speak with her."

People will always have questions about relationships. Both men and women have similar doubts and concerns about making things work with the opposite sex. Mixed messages, commitment-phobes, the past coming back to haunt you... everyone truly wants to know the best decisions to make when it comes to love.

Thanks to Ask Mars Venus Coaching, no one has to date in the dark.

Whether you prefer to talk or type, there is a coaching technique to suit your sensibilities. Communication is designed to be comfortable and convenient for every client—that's why Ask Mars Venus Coaching is available via phone and email. Support is always at your fingertips.

Phone Coaching

People who call an Ask Mars Venus Coach have discovered that insight from an outside source is often the key to opening their eyes to the issues at hand. Most callers admit that it's comforting to hear an empathetic, helpful voice on the other end of the line rather than a preoccupied friend or biased family member. Phone coaches provide callers with a sympathetic and supportive outlet to voice their frustrations and fears about love. When a caller's relationship isn't meeting their expectations, a coach can help them see what's really going on in their love life and work with them to develop a resolution. Callers can talk for as little or as long as they like—coaches are there no matter what.

Email Coaching

Both practical and economical, Ask Mars Venus Email Coaching provides an opportunity for people to get quick answers to their most perplexing relationship questions without having to do anything more than send an email. Some people are able to more accurately express themselves in writing than verbally. Email coaching allows clients to seek assistance in a convenient way, while enabling them to still build a bond with a knowledgeable Ask Mars Venus coach. When writing to a coach, responses are guaranteed within 24 hours. That's sometimes faster than you can reach your closest confidante!

Looking for a dating and relationship expert?
Interview an Ask Mars Venus coach!

Travel ~ Frazzled commuters know they can't live without a way to communicate with the world outside their car. Interview a coach about how, in as little as 20 minutes, they can serve up some peace of mind so drivers can turn their auto entrapment into a sanity-saving sanctuary and be well-prepared to face their relationship challenges when they arrive at home.

Entertainment ~ Enjoy the lighter side of love and romance. Get great tips and tricks from coaches for putting the passion back in a relationship or planning a great date night.

Lifestyle ~ For brides- and grooms-to-be to make it to the altar without reservations, a guiding light is sometimes necessary. Interview an Ask Mars Venus coach about how to survive the rocky road of engagement, and everything that comes after.

Gift Guides ~ Tired of including the same old items in your gift guide round-up? Give your audience a break from being a sounding board for their friend or family. They can give the gift of listening and solutions to someone they love by purchasing an Ask Mars Venus phone coaching pin. Immediate answers equal immediate gratitude.

Features ~ Love and relationships are always a hot topic. Interview a coach for expert advice about the real motivation behind infidelity, the pesky world of online dating, the danger of emotional affairs, the real reasons men don't call, the truth about friends with benefits, and more.

Health ~ Emotional health is just as important as physical health. Coaches give people a boost of support and a helping hand when they need an impartial guide. Consult a coach about sharpening communication techniques, improving bedroom behavior, and understanding the different needs of men and women.

Business ~ Today, on-the-job stress is eating away at loving relationships. Men and women are overworked and taking it out on each other. Why are men go-getters at work but less enthusiastic at home? Why do women have to be tough in the office but be expected to go back to their feminine side at home? Stress can build a wall in a relationship... interview a coach to discover how this unavoidable evil can be overcome.
